

This is a picture of Giulianova Lido, where I was born. There are 20,000 people there and it's a small village on the sea. Giulianova is located on the east coast of central Italy. The distance from Giulianova to Rome is almost 200 km. My small village is situated on the sea but there are many hills. The most expensive area to live in is around the centre, while the cheapest is close to the river because it's not a safe area. I live very close to the hotels and during the summer my area is really crowded. The main industry in my town is fishing. There are many schools in my town from primary and secondary to different colleges. I went to the science college. In the area where I live there are some markets, hairdresser's, a bank and newsagent's. Football is really important in my town because our local team plays in the third division and we have got a stadium too. There is a swimming pool where I went when I was younger and many sports centre. What I can still say about my town it's a little boring but it's a good place for living.

Gerry Iobbi

